Guidelines for Submissions

1. Published semiannually (in May and November), Humanitas Taiwanica welcomes essays from all disciplines of the humanities: literature, history, philosophy, art, music, linguistics, philology, archeology, anthropology, and library science.
2. Submissions from scholars outside of Taiwan are welcomed. Please do not submit more than one manuscript at a time, or simultaneously submit the same manuscript to another publication. In addition, submissions cannot have been previously published (including on the internet or as part of a dissertation or thesis). For a paper presented at a conference, please ensure that conference organizers do not have plans to publish the proceedings of the conference before submitting the paper to Humanitas Taiwanica. Upon receipt, all submissions will be sent anonymously to two experts for evaluation. Please do not include any information in the paper that would divulge the authorship of the paper. Fifty (50) offprints will be given to authors after their papers are published. No other remuneration or compensation will be given.
3. The review process for all submissions begins at the same time, which is immediately following the next deadline submission date (February 15th and August 15th, respectively). Submitters will be notified of the decision in regard to their submissions by the Journal's editorial committee at the end of April and October, respectively.
4. Submissions can be either in Chinese or English. Chinese manuscripts should be from 5,000-30,000 characters in length, and English manuscripts from between 15 to 50 double-spaced pages (notes included). Chinese translations of academic classics originally written in other languages are also welcome, but only if they are accompanied by critical commentaries and expository annotations.
5. Should any part of a submission require copyright authorization when published (such as pictures or quotations exceeding a certain length), please acquire written agreement from the copyright holder before submission. Humanitas Taiwanica will not be held responsible for the authorization required.

6. All submissions should be complete with the following information both in Chinese and English: title, abstract (not to exceed 250 Chinese characters or one page in English), and keywords (no more than five). Please be sure to follow the MLA style format for English manuscripts; Chinese manuscripts should conform to the style sheet included in every issue of the journal.
7. Please also provide the following information on a separate sheet of paper: name, institution, and position (in both Chinese and English for the above), contact address, email address, and telephone or fax number. Please also note if the paper has been presented at a conference.
8. When submitting a manuscript, please send three hard copies to the following address: Editorial Committee for Humanitas Taiwanica, College of Liberal Arts, National Taiwan University, No. 1 Roosevelt Road, Sect. 4, Taipei 10617, Taiwan. In addition, please send an electronic version in Word format to the following email address: bcla@ntu.edu.tw. Please be advised that submitted papers (both hard and soft copies) will not be returned.
9. Articles published in Humanitas Taiwanica cannot be reprinted, translated, republished or reproduced in any form without first acquiring permission from the journal.
10. Submissions will only be accepted if authors agree to simultaneous publication in electronic version at Humanitas Taiwanica's website: <http://homepage.ntu.edu.tw/~bcla/>. Once submissions have been accepted for publication, authors must give permission to the College of Liberal Arts of National Taiwan University and National Taiwan University Press, as well as other institutions that have a cooperative agreement with the College or NTUP, for the editing, reproduction, translation, public transmission, and inclusion in databases of their article, so that it may be browsed, downloaded, and printed by users. NTUP is also authorized to publish the said article in both print and electronic format.
